Intermat 2024 - Atlas Weyhausen presents equipment for traditional application areas.

Agricultural machinery is also available.

The wheel loaders from Atlas Weyhausen, under the brand name Weycor, are traditionally used in the main construction sector, horticulture and landscaping, goods logistics, and industry. Their use in agriculture is also possible with specially adapted equipment.

In addition to the well-known features of Weycor, options available for agriculture include extended lifting, the option of fast speed at 40 km/h, a European cab for models AR 400 - AR 530, a 4th hydraulic circuit at the rear or front, equipment with air conditioning installation, and wide agricultural tires. From model AR 550, the fan reversal function is also offered. Agricultural tools are also part of the company's delivery program.
